

TARIFF MEASURE IS TO BE RUSHED NOW

NO DELAYS IN HANDLING IMPORTANT LEGISLATION ANTICIPATED.

PLANKS ARE GREASED

Everything is to Work Smoothly to Redeem the Democratic Pledges Given During Campaign.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 10.—The senate finance committee has determined not to have hearings on the tariff bill, taking the position that the hearings conducted by the house ways and means committee in January were sufficiently thorough to cover practically all the points the senate need to consider in connection with the pending legislation.

It is believed now that the tariff bill, after it finally reaches the senate, will not remain in the committee more than ten days. Some expert testimony and some of the new information upon certain disputed ideas may be secured by the committee but no open hearings will be held.

The senate was not in session today and members continued the study of the tariff bill in private. Republican forces are preparing for a united attack upon the democratic revision on the ground it not only destroys all protection to many American industries, but that in many features it practically is a free trade bill.

House democrats met to resume consideration of the tariff bill in caucus when the house adjourned. They have demonstrated that a good working majority is supporting Chairman Underwood and the ways and means committee, and this seems to indicate that the caucus eventually will ratify the schedules as presented, including free raw wool and the 25 per cent cut in sugar, with the provisions for its going on the free list in three years.

There are assurances, however, that such a result will not be accomplished without a fight. Opposition forces are preparing for a struggle for a duty on raw wool and to eliminate the free sugar provision.

Opponents of free wool are making the argument that the party went to the people in the last election committed to a duty on raw wool as based on the wool schedule passed in congress and vetoed by the president. They declare that when the house agreed to a duty of 20 per cent and later accepted 25 per cent in conference it went on record before the public.

The senate was not in session. It will meet at noon on Saturday.

The finance committee of the democrats met and considered the new tariff bill.

The house met at noon. Representative Stephens of California introduced a bill directing the Panama Railway company to establish a Pacific steamship line in connection with the Atlantic line.

Representative Mann introduced a bill for a tariff board of five members. Representative Hobson introduced a joint resolution for constitutional amendment for direct election of present and single seven year terms.

Representative Bartholdi moved to limit the presidential tenure to four year terms; Representative Neely moved to provide popular election of United States district judges every six years.

Representative Palmer introduced a resolution for a commission to fix boundaries of North and South American nations.

Representative Clark introduced a resolution for a special committee to investigate various legislative and executive committees; Representative Austin one to investigate tobacco pools at Henderson, Ky., and Representative Lowbeck one to investigate prices paid to government for elevators.

The president would be authorized to invite foreign nations to participate in naval parade at the opening of the Panama canal by a resolution introduced by Representative Copley.

Representative Flood introduced a resolution for a government bureau of tobacco industry.

Survey and estimate of a ship canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario by the LaSalle-Lewiston route is directed in the resolution of Representative Motot. A Lincoln memorial highway from Boston to San Francisco is proposed in a bill by Representative Taylor of Colorado.

Representative Murdock introduced a bill for labeling of clothing and making misbranding a misdemeanor.

MYSTERIOUS SUSPECT SEEKS HIS OWN LIFE

Man Under Arrest in Chicago Charged With Theft of Diamonds Would Suiicide.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, April 10.—Using the jagged edge of handle torn from a tin cup, Jack Lewis, charged with the theft of diamonds at Portland, Ore., and Milwaukee, attempted to commit suicide. The wounds made on his artery were discovered today when a detective visited his cell. Lewis, known also as Weaver E. Clark and who has been identified also as E. C. Von Klein, had lost his jaunty air today and it was recalled that he had recently expressed himself as disgusted with life and inclined to take a short cut out of it. His wound was not serious.

WORKHOUSE INMATE SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Keeper Says Man Threatened Him and He Acted in Self Defense—Was Shot Twice.

Marquette, April 10.—Howard Leaf, a prisoner in the Marquette county work house was shot and probably fatally wounded this morning by Peter Christ, keeper of the institution. Christ claims that he shot in self-defense. He said that two weeks ago, Leaf, who was shot twice with a rifle once at his feet and once over his head, Leaf continued to fire stones and then he shot directly at him. The bullet entered Leaf's side and passed directly through tearing away part of the lung.

Leaf has served terms in Wisconsin and Michigan penitentiaries.

BELGIUM GOVERNMENT READY FOR A STRIKE

Troops Occupy Strategic Points in Anticipation of Labor Difficulties.

Brussels, Belgium, April 10.—Troops today occupied most of the great industrial centers of Belgium in preparation for the general strike ordered for Monday when three hundred thousand or four hundred thousand men will quit work. In most of the cities large crowds gathered to watch the arrival of the troops, and cheered the soldiers as they marched. The socialist strike leaders in various localities have offered to authorities the service of special constables drawn from their own ranks to aid in preserving order. They affirm that any outbreak of violence will delay their cause for half a generation.

The strike is an attack on the present system of plural voting in Belgium whereby citizens have one, two or three votes according to their station in life. The strikers demand that each male citizen shall have only one vote.

WANTS COMMISSION ON PUBLIC MORALS

Assemblyman Frederick Urges Measure for Establishment of Committee to Safeguard Morals.

Madison, Wis., April 9.—Assemblyman Frederick narrated cases which might well come within the purview of a public morals commission, in arguing for the establishment of such a board before the senate committee on education and public welfare yesterday afternoon. The bill has passed the lower house. The committee last night recommended its passage by the senate.

Mr. Frederick's bill provides for a commission of seven members—one physician, one clergyman, two teachers and three others (all men); to be appointed by the governor, to meet once or twice a year and to be paid $5 a day for actual work, together with expenses. Their province is to be the inspection of books and newspapers, advertisements, vaudeville and other theaters, moving pictures, the dress of actors and actresses, pictures in circulation, and all other subjects involving danger to public morals. Their powers of prosecution are to be concurrent with those of the police. One of the primary objects is to empower the proposed commission to recommend to the state superintendent of public instruction such subjects as might well be incorporated into the curriculum of the schools, as sex hygiene. In the light of nationwide disclosures of moral conditions, Assemblyman Frederick told the committee his commission bill should pass and that it had a wide field in Wisconsin.

Before the assembly judiciary committee Mr. Frederick discussed his bill permitting the confiscation by the state of properties used as houses of ill-fame. The committee was confronted merely with the question of constitutionality. Mr. Frederick argued that the same power is given to the state when acts of fishermen are taken, and when liquor is seized and destroyed. Prof. E. A. Gilmore of the university law school said he thought the law would be constitutional.

PHYSICIAN INSISTS POPE PIUS BETTER; HAD RESTFUL NIGHT

Members of Household However State That He Is in Serious Condition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, April 10.—Dr. Andrea Amidi declared today that he hoped by next week Pope Pius will be convalescent. An entirely contrary opinion, however, is expressed by some of those immediately surrounding the Pope who depict the situation as grave. They assert that an examination made by a specialist showed the presence of from ten to twelve degrees of albumin.

Just before 11 Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, entered the bed chamber. The pope said in reply to the Cardinal's inquiry that he felt better. He then spoke about the pilgrims who had come to the Vatican from Venice and expressed his regret that he would be unable to see them.

At noon today, the condition of the pope was much better, but the weakness of his heart and his intermittent pulse were still causing anxiety. The doctors permitted him to eat an egg with broth but the patient was able to take it with difficulty.

The pontiff passed a comparatively calm night disturbed only by occasional fits of coughing and periods of great perspiration.

REGISTRATION LAW FOR STATE HOTELS

Measure Introduced by Assemblyman Rosa Places Inspection Authority With Board of Health.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 9.—The enforcement of the hotel law will be placed with the state board of health and not with a hotel commission. The assembly committee on public welfare gave a hearing yesterday on the Rosa bill for the licensing of hotels, boarding houses and rooming houses. During the past two weeks the measure has been re-drafted. It defines a hotel, rooming and boarding house and gives the state board of health power to investigate them as to sanitary conditions and safety.

While each hotel should be obliged to come under the law and pay a fee it was generally agreed that instead of calling it a "license" it would be better to call it a registration fee. J. T. Drought of the Hotel Men's association said that the hotel keepers had generally agreed on the substitute measure that had been prepared.

CHARGES UNIVERSITY SEEKS TO DOMINATE WISCONSIN SCHOOLS

Speaker Hull Clashes With President Van Hise in Hearing on Rosa and Sharp Bills For Education Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 10.—President Van Hise of the state university and Speaker Merlin Hull of the assembly clashed before the assembly committee on education yesterday afternoon over the Rosa and Sharp bills designed to vest the whole public educational system of the state in a state commission. Speaker Hull charged the university was seeking to build up a domination over which educational branches. He declared the present system was too heavy, the common schools being comparatively neglected while the state university was given elaborate attention and abundant financial aid.

The alleged "top heaviness," he advocated the bills under discussion. An expert board would have power to supervise the whole system with regard to the proper relations of one branch of the system with the others, he said. Judge Rosa spoke along similar lines.

President Van Hise and James F. Trotman, president of the board of university regents, declared the subject is too big for arbitrary and hasty action of this kind, and that a committee of experts should first make a thorough investigation of the needs for the proposed change before a bill of this kind should be passed.

The Rosa resolution provides for a constitutional amendment changing the supervision of public instruction while the Sharp bill creates a state board of education. Both have the same ends.

STREET CAR FIGHT NOW GOES TO HOUSE

Measure Removing Limitation on Cities Desiring to Purchase Roads Passed by Senate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 10.—One of the greatest fights of the session was transferred from the senate to the assembly last night when after the bill was passed under suspension of the rules the measure designed to make more easy the acquisition of street railway lines by municipalities was messaged from the senate to the lower house.

Removes Limitation. The bill does away with the limitation now in the public utility law providing that no street railway company can be obtained by a purchase based on condemnation until its franchise are within three years of their expiration period, and places all street railway companies on the same basis as waterworks, gas and electric light plants, making them subject to acquisition at any time by a municipality under condemnation proceedings.

The vote came after an all day fight in the senate, in which the bill was strongly supported by Senators Linley, Hustling, Kileen and Randolph, and opposed by Senators Bosshard and Skogmo.

HOLD LAST SESSION OF WOMEN'S MISSION CONVENTION TONIGHT

Address This Afternoon on Work in Porto Rico—Officers Elected at Morning Session.

This afternoon saw the close of the joint convention of the Wisconsin Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior, and the Wisconsin Woman's Home Missionary Union, which have been in session at the Congregational church for the last three days. The convention is pronounced a very successful one and has been well attended, nearly one hundred delegates being present at the later meetings. The illustrated lecture on "Our Latest Americans," given last evening by Mrs. E. J. Guild, president of the Woman's Home Missionary Federation, was heard by a large audience and proved very interesting and instructive. The illustrations were colored lantern slides made from photographs taken at Ellis Island, the famous immigrant station in New York Harbor. The address of the Rev. L. H. Keller of Madison on "Our State Work," was an illuminating exposition of that subject.

The meeting this morning was almost exclusively a business session. After a devotional service led by Mrs. Updike of Madison, reports were read by Acting County Secretary Mrs. A. Salisbury of Whitewater, treasurer, Miss McCuchan of Whitewater, and secretary of literature, Mrs. L. G. Wheeler of Wauwatosa. The district secretaries also made reports. Mrs. V. Thompson of Grand Rapids presented the story of the church building society, and Mrs. O. L. Robinson of Madison that of the Sunday school department. The session closed with devotions led by Mrs. T. G. Grassie of Wauwatosa.

KANSAS STREET OIL CHOSEN BY COUNCIL

City Will Purchase Product of Cudahy Refining Company—Discusses Storage Tank Site.

Kansas asphaltic oil, the product of the Cudahy Refining Company's refinery at Coffeyville, containing from 60 to 65 per cent of asphalt and offered at the price of 4.94 cents a gallon will be purchased by the city of Janesville for use in laying the macadam streets during the coming season according to the action taken by the council at an adjourned meeting late this morning. City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund was directed to enter into a contract with the Cudahy Company for the purchase of from 75,000 to 100,000 gallons of the oil according to the terms proposed.

Before a decision was made as to what oil would be selected City Engineer C. V. Kerch exhibited to the council for the tenacity of the material or fifteen samples received from the companies which submitted prices. These ranged from 5.34 cents a gallon, the price of the Barber Asphalt Company's "B," to that of the Standard Oil Company, 4.77 cents for grades No. 4 and 5. Without any doubt the Barber Company's product was the best, but its cost made it impossible for the council to consider buying it. Next in quality was the Indian Refining Company's oil, the price of which is 5.34 cents a gallon. The final choice was between this product and that of the Cudahy Company, but as the former would cost the city $810 more for 100,000 gallons, it was decided to buy the Coffeyville oil, the next best grade.

The city proposes to apply the oil to the streets, one-half gallon to the square yard, at a cost of five cents per running foot to the abutting property. To buy an oil at a higher price than that decided upon would put the burden of the expense upon the city. Under the proposed arrangement it will be done for very near actual cost. The Coffeyville oil was used at Madison two years ago with very satisfactory results.

City Engineer C. V. Kerch made a report to the council as to a site for an oil storage tank. The best location for one, he said, was on Race street, between Franklin and River streets. Agnes Hemming of the Chicago & Northwestern railway has given him assurances that a siding can be put in at this point, and has made application for one to the proper authorities. The tank would be put about half way up the embankment, making it possible to unload the oilcars into it by gravity, and to tap it into the wagons in the same manner. The next best location, according to the engineer, is on the Baker spur on North Bluff street. It is roughly estimated that it will cost from five to six hundred dollars to buy, ship and erect an oil storage tank with a capacity of 8,000 gallons, the size which the council favors. Quotations on such tanks have already been received, and one will probably be contracted for at an early meeting. No final action was taken on the report of the engineer.

City Clerk Hammarlund was directed by the council to enter into a contract with the American Cement Machine Company, having offices at Madison, for the purchase of an Etnyre road roller.

Adjournment was taken by the council until next Tuesday, the time of the next regular meeting.

NEW CANDIDATE FOR EMERY'S POSITION

Thos. Cornellusen Seeks Office of State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

In the following letter sent out by the editor of the Butter, Cheese and Eggs Journal of Milwaukee, the candidacy of Thos. Cornellusen is advanced. The letter relative to his candidacy is as follows:

Contrary to reports sent out from Madison, the office of Dairy and Food Commissioner has not as yet been filled for the present term. Mr. Emery, only serving temporarily until a successor is agreed upon. Last week the name of Mr. Thos. Cornellusen was presented to the Governor with the request to appoint him as Dairy and Food Commissioner. Mr. Cornellusen will without doubt have the unanimous endorsement and support of the creamery and cheese factory owners and operators of the state, as well as the dairymen in general.

Mr. Cornellusen has been known among the buttermakers and cheese-makers of the state, and recognized as a leader among such. He received his training as butter and cheese-maker in Denmark. About 22 years ago he came to Wisconsin, and made an excellent record as a buttermaker in the state. He took a dairy course at Madison, and later, was instructor at the Dairy Department in Madison. Then, in order to fit himself so as to talk intelligently to the farmers, he took a short course in agriculture at Madison, before he went back to buttermaking again.

For several years he was inspector with the Dairy and Food Department of Wisconsin, and for the past five or six years he has been connected with the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., first as field dairyman in Wisconsin, and later with headquarters in Washington, where his work has brought him in touch with all the system of inspection in use among dairy and food departments in all states of the Union. He has also had excellent opportunity to observe the manufacturing and marketing end of dairy and food products from coast to coast. Mr. Cornellusen's large practical experience in the dairy field, his past training, broad views, and admirable personality make him specially qualified to hold the office of Dairy and Food Commissioner of Wisconsin.

Mr. Cornellusen has been behind the churning vat. He knows, and understands from practical experience your many dairy troubles, and can sympathize with you. Do you want him as your next Dairy and Food Commissioner, or do you want some politician who knows nothing about the dairy business? There never was a better opportunity for you to do yourself and the dairy interests a good turn.

RAILROAD LABORER HEIR TO A FORTUNE

John Beckelhymer, Employed at St. Paul Roundhouse, Receives Word of Unexpected Wealth.

Sudden and unexpected prosperity befall John Beckelhymer, laborer at the St. Paul round house, when he received word from a Chicago law firm that he and his brother were the sole heirs to a fortune estimated to be worth over $100,000, left to them by their parents, who died some years ago. Young Beckelhymer, who is not yet twenty-one, was located only after a long and diligent search on the part of the executors of the estate.

For a space of over ten years the young man has not heard from his brother as he left home after the death of his mother. His father died when he was very young. After being forced to shift for himself he lost track of his brother and when the letter from the Chicago law firm reached him it was the first that he knew of his wealth. His brother is an engineer on the Chicago & Alton railroad and the two are the only ones to share in the wealth. Besides an eighty acre farm at Erick, Ill., it is estimated there is about eighty thousand dollars in money to be divided.

It was only after a space of ten years—that Mr. Beckelhymer was found, for after leaving home he became engrossed in earning a livelihood and has worked in various parts of the country. At present he is employed at the St. Paul roundhouse as a laborer and receives about fifty dollars a month for his work. Mr. Beckelhymer is unable to account how they found out his identity or that he was working here. He expects more definite reply and information regarding the conditions of the property and in the meantime he is still cleaning engines.

THE HORSE.

Some misguided people talk of "the horseless age." They have even called a magazine by that ungrateful and sorrowful title.

If such an age should ever come it would be a sad one for humanity.

Fortunately there is no indication that it will ever arrive. There are more horses today than before the introduction of the locomotive and automobile, and they bring higher prices.

The horse has been man's inseparable companion, helper and friend. He has plowed his fields, drawn his loads, carried him on his journeys, gone with him into battle, swiftly rescued him from danger, been with him in his triumphal pageants, borne him to his place of rest.

The horse lives in song and story, in painting and sculpture, in classic lore and Holy Writ.

Of all our animal friends the horse is closest to man, most faithful, noblest, most patient. His service to the human race exceeds that of all the rest.

If he is not as swift as our modern desires, if in our mad rush we desert him for steam and gasoline, it is not that he has lost or ever will lose his place in our gratitude and affections. In our humbler tasks and sinner pleasures he yet bears his wonted part.

The horse responds to our every mood and need. He is strong for our burdens and heavy labor, swift for the race, enters into the spirit of our sport, flies to the very limit of his endurance when human life is in danger, takes on the wild lust of our fighting, is proud in our pride, thrills with pleasure at our touch, is patient with our cruelty, responds to our kindness, loves our children and mourns for our missing ones. He is so wise that "horse sense" has become the symbol of all that is substantial and dependable in human sense.

"A horseless age?" God forbid! The very thought is mournful, and more over there is no truth behind it.

The horse belongs to the human family. He is as much a part of our life as the grass and sky, the rivulets and hills, laughter and love, hope and home.

If for nothing else we will keep him as an example of noble qualities—patience, industry, sanity, fidelity, obedience and loyalty.

There was quite a flurry in the Clinton horse market yesterday, caused by the advent of five horse-buyers from a distance. Quite a number of horses changed hands.

A distressing accident occurred last Friday at Harvard that caused the death of a former Clinton young man named Carl Bandlow, who formerly worked for Chas. Stone, northeast of Iowa. The unfortunate young man in some manner shot himself in the left thigh. He died from the wound Monday. Funeral services were held this afternoon. He is survived by his mother and four brothers, one of whom, Frank Brandlow, lives on a farm near Clinton.

The Helpmate society of the Methodist church met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. G. A. Ruhmer at her home on South School street. A very pleasant meeting was reported.

Dirty, Low-Down Trick.

Stealing of servants is a social crime that warrants the most severe condemnation. It is really discouraging to spend three or four years teaching a raw girl to wait on the table only to have the guest of a previous evening entice her away. A servant in the household is a gem, and the stealing of gems ought not to be countenanced. — Charleston News and Courier.

Made of Hard, Stiff Wire, of Honest Quality

A Heavy American Fence
Costs You No More
Per Rod Than Lighter
Fences of Other Makes

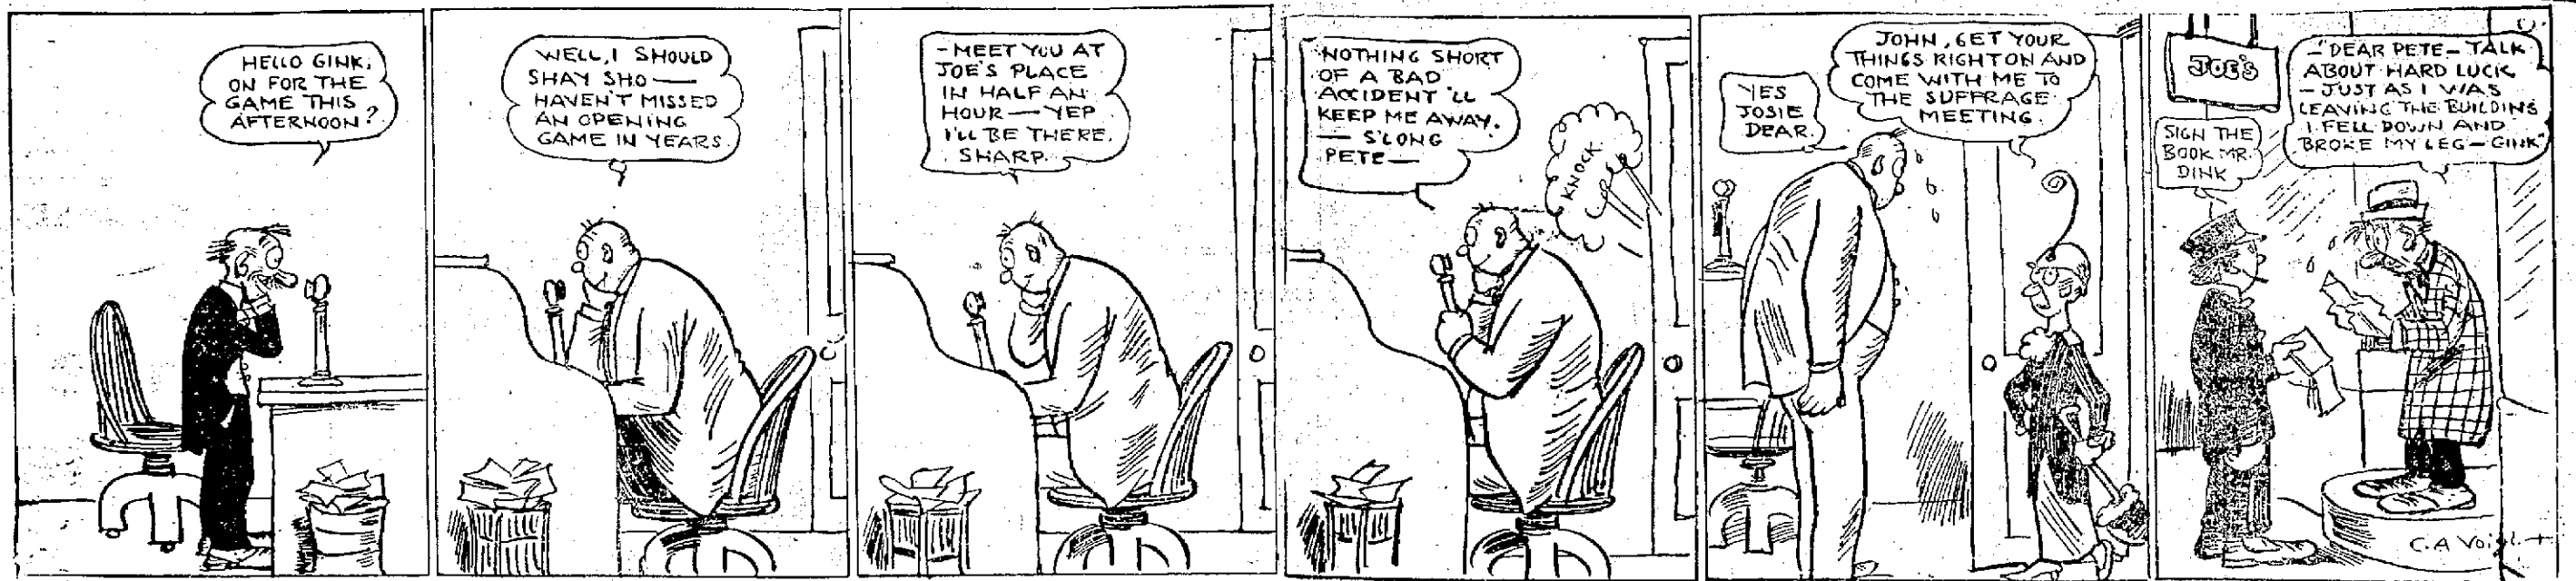

A roll of heavy fence means big wire. Big wire means more strength and longer life. Insist upon the dealer weighing the roll of fence he sells you. This will tell the story quicker than any other way, for you cannot always tell the size of wire by eye. American Fence will stand this test against any fence made, and will prove its greater weight. Why, then, pay the same money for a lighter fence?

American Fence is made of hard, stiff steel. It is made of a quality of wire drawn expressly for woven-wire-fence purposes by the largest manufacturers of wire in the world. Galvanized by latest improved processes, the best that the skill and experience of years has taught. Built on the same elastic hinged-joint (patented) principle, which effectually protects the stay or upright wires from breaking under hard usage.

Test, judge and compare American Fence under any and all conditions and you will find that the steel, the structure and the galvanizing are equal in durability, strength and efficiency to the hardest uses.

Port Snap Shots

by Dad McCarty

University of Pennsylvania track and field athletics have taken on a sudden accession of interest since the return of Trainer Mike Murphy to the direction of their efforts. Murphy has been sick ever since last fall, and has to sit bundled up with robes and blankets in the back of an auto, bossing the college men through a small megaphone. According to the young men's way of thinking, a wabbly and inactive Mike Murphy is a whole lot better than the most peppery trainer who could be procured.

There is small consolation for Jim Thorpe, world's champion athlete, now trying out for the New York Giants, in the statement of Secretary James E. Sullivan of the A. A. U., that if Jim had made a clean breast of his case when signing as an entrant to the Olympic games, he might have been shirking of all guilt against amateurism. As he did not, he will have to give back all his trophies. Yet, he has won by his reputation a job with the New York Giants, said to bring him $8,000 a year in salary; and he is only a substitute, at that. Jim probably is not worrying very hard.

Russell Ford, pitcher for the New York Americans, claims to be developing a slow spitball that ambles up to the plate like a cow cropping daisies and then ducks away like a scared rabbit, dropping into his burrow. The new delivery is not yet ready for exhibition, but may be there before long.

Jeff Tesreau, the mighty bear hunter from the Ozarks, who has done considerable hurling for the New York Giants and was rated the most effective finger in the National League last year, probably will pitch the opening game of the season for the benchmen of Muggsy McGraw. He has shown rare form in spring training.

Manager Fred Clarke thinks he would like to be a pinch hitter for the Pittsburgh Pirates this season. Fred always could strike out gracefully.

The New York Yankees are without a home of their own. Wreckers already have commenced their work on the old stands at Washington Heights from which the team drew the name of Highlanders. The waits will play this year at the Polo grounds, home of the Giants. A new park on the Harlem river will be ready for next spring.

The Federal Baseball League which has been organized to compete with big league ball in a number of cities, will open its season May 6 and close September 14. The schedule calls for 120 games with the following opening contests: Indianapolis at Covington (Cincinnati), Cleveland at Pittsburgh, and Chicago at St. Louis.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE MAY BE REORGANIZED

Need for a More Business-Like Organization Is Realized by Former Players.

While the big leaguers are beginning their season and baseball being started in all sections of the country, it is time that something was started to keep up the sport in Janesville. For numerous years in the past the different factories and represented by baseball teams which were entered in the Commercial League and a schedule of games was made out. This plan has met with more or less success but every year there seems to be a lack of understanding among the teams and not much business ability connected with the running of the league. While it cannot be expected that the games in the league could be much of a financial success they provide good sport for the players and some enthusiasm was shown last year when the two leading teams came to fight it out for the championship.

The main thing that was lacking in the organization last year was a good set of rules that the teams should stand by irrespective of arising circumstances. While there were rules passed by the representatives of the various teams they were violated in many cases and some discord arose among the players. The benefit of such a league cannot be questioned and plans are being inaugurated for another season by some members of last year's team. For the success of the venture it seems that the best thing possible would be for the managers of the teams to meet and form a good business-like club with rules that all must abide by. It is time there is something started in the form of a league and it should be started right.

There are enough firms in this city having employees who have baseball ability and with a limited amount of outside players could make a series of games interesting. It appears that the best thing to do now would be to get the managers of the various teams to meet and start the movement.

WILD DUCKS ARE PLENTIFUL, BUT MUST NOT BE HUNTED

Wild Geese, However, May Be Shot Until May 1. Trout Season Opens on 15th Inst.

Wild ducks are plentiful this spring according to Deputy Game Warden W. P. Mason. Blue bills are most in evidence, but there are not a few mallards and red-heads to be seen, and also a few canvas-backs. Wisconsin game laws do not permit spring shooting though Illinois still gives that privilege. It will probably be the last year, however, as federal legislation will undoubtedly be passed to prohibit it. No complaints of the spring shooting laws being violated have been made in this vicinity. The open season for wild geese which began September 10, closes May 1. The geese are not very numerous but a few have been shot. Most of them are of the gray variety, but among them are a few brant. The trout fishing season opens April 15, the bass season June 1.

CARDINALS TO PLAY TEAM COMPOSED OF FORMER STARS

While the high school has been forbidden from playing in any more games this season, the coming contest between the Cardinals and the champions has not been called off. The contest Saturday night will be between several of the regular players and one of the graduates of the high school. Edler and Falter, who will graduate this year, will play, and the remaining three players have not been definitely decided. Manager Langdon will again strengthen his lineup with players from Madison and the opposing team will not be far behind the high school team in playing strength. As this is the last game of the season and every contest between these two teams has been of sterling quality a large crowd of fans will see the contest.

GRIFF'S COACHING BRINGING RESULTS

Carl Cashion.

The result of the clever coaching of Manager Clark Griffith of the Washington Nationals is being shown in the progress made by Carl Cashion, reckoned one of the best pitching prospects in the American League. Cashion's big fault used to be lack of control. Griffith has corrected that and Cashion is expected by many critics to rank among the best hurlers in the league this season.

BASEBALL IS NOW KING OF THE WALK

Baseball is new. Games Started This Afternoon in National and American Leagues. —Where to Find Correct Scores.

Baseball is New King of the walk. Starting yesterday when Brooklyn and Philadelphia clashed horns, the Quakers winning by a score of one to nothing from the Superbas, from now until next October, baseball will be King. In the national league today the Chicago-St. Louis game was postponed on account of rain as was the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh contest. Boston played New York at New York, and Philadelphia-Brooklyn at the latter city.

In the American League Chicago was scheduled to cross bats with Cleveland, Philadelphia at Boston, Detroit at St. Louis and New York at Washington, where President Wilson pitched the first ball in the game.

In order to obtain the returns by mailings quickly the Gazette will post them as fast as received on the bulletin board in the window of its office, at Baker's Drug Store, McManis's Hardware store, J. In case the enthusiastic fan is not able to secure information as how the games are going they may call up, before six o'clock, seventy-six Wisconsin telephone, or sixty-two Rock county. Gazette editorial rooms and obtain the results.

OLD-TIME PITCHER TRIES TO COME BACK

Harry McIntyre.

Harry McIntyre, veteran pitcher in many National League battles, who has been enrolled under most of the standards of that circuit, is engaged in a determined effort to "come back." He did not play at all last year, finding none of the big league teams willing to contract for his services.

This spring, however, he has trained with the Cincinnati Reds. Manager Joe Tinker having been with him on the Chicago Cubs Harry has captained and managed the second team of Reds on the transforming trip, and has come a little twirling. If his arm rounds into shape, Tinker will sign him up as a member of the regular pitching staff.

Belief in luck retards progress, dulls the intellect, deadens the wits, debases the body and keeps its votaries ever behind in the race of life. The man who believes that his luck is against him—good luck—has cast over himself an insidious spell and soon will feel that it is useless to knock at the treasure-room of fame and fortune, that a deaf ear will be turned to him because he comes to believe that door to be open only to its favored children.

DIRECT ELECTION.

By the ratification of Connecticut of the seventeenth amendment to the federal constitution, which provides for the direct election of United States senators by the people without the intervention of the legislature, a step has been taken which had its origin in 1826. The ratification needed thirty-six states before it became effective and Connecticut was the thirty-sixth. The amendment reads:

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies, provided that the Legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the Legislature may direct.

Efforts have been made ever since 1826 looking toward the election of Senators by the people. There was no sustained effort, however, and the various movements came to naught. The House favorably considered the change long before the Senate did. June 24, 1911, the Senate voted to submit the proposed amendment to the states. The resolution to submit had previously passed the House in different form. Before adjournment of the session, both houses agreed as to the language, and May 16, 1912, the resolution was turned over to the Secretary of State for distribution among the states.

The amendment is a change both in method and in principle. The idea of the makers of the Constitution was that the House should represent the people of the states and the Senate the states themselves. Certainly the change will do away with deadlocks in the Legislatures. Whether it will result in the selection of able Senators remains to be seen, beginning with the fall elections of 1914.

EXPRESSES GRATITUDE.

When the appeal for aid for the sufferers from the disastrous floods that swept over Ohio and Indiana was made, Janesville responded and forwarded money as fast as it could be collected. Some was sent direct to the head of the relief department at Columbus; other sums went to Dayton and Peru, Indiana, where the immediate need seemed most imperative. Letters acknowledging the gifts and expressing thanks have been received from these cities and today the following letter, expressing thanks to the citizens of Janesville who responded to the appeal, comes from Governor James Cox of Ohio.

STATE OF OHIO.
 Executive Department.
 Columbus, Ohio, April 8, 1913.
 Gazette Printing Co.,
 Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sirs: I have your letter of March 29th, advising that you have sent to Col. M. L. Wilson, by wire, $250 for the benefit of the flood sufferers in this state. In the name of the stricken people, I desire to thank you and the citizens of Janesville for your generous contribution.

Very truly yours,
 JAMES M. COX.

Such a letter should be a satisfaction to all who subscribed to the money raised. Janesville answered the call and its response was immediate. The money was forwarded by telegraph and reached the needy when aid was most imperative.

BE A BOOSTER.

There are lots of municipal problems that the proposed Twenty-five Thousand club can aid the city officials in solving. There are many questions in which every citizen is interested that can be handled most judiciously for the betterment of Janesville by such an organization. It is to be a citizens' movement. A movement in which every man who resides in Janesville can take a part. The meeting is called for next Tuesday evening at seven-thirty at the Myers theatre and is open to all. There is no fixed program arranged as to how it shall be conducted. It is a people's meeting at which every citizen who is interested in Janesville has the right to express his own views. It is not designed to permit the organization to become an organ for self-aggrandizement of any individual or clique of citizens, but for the people themselves. It is designed to be for the people and managed by the people. Turn out and be a booster and attend the meeting.

DEMONSTRATED VALUE.

The recent disastrous fire which wiped out a quarter of a million of real and personal property in Janesville last Tuesday night if it accomplished nothing else demonstrated the value of the commission form of government. Mayor Fathers and the two councilmen were enabled to handle matters which needed immediate attention at once without the delay of special meetings of the council. They were able to give their entire time and attention to the matter at hand and not handicapped by the fact they were interfering with their own business by so doing. Under the old system of government, where the city officials were business men, they could not have done this without serious inconvenience to themselves and their personal interests. As it was, what had to be done at once was done without long delay and red tape. The commission form of government proved its worth even to the most pessimistic.

He hooked his wife's dress up the back and never made a kick. He paid her bills and never said a word. He never called the household down when he chanced to be sick. It's pretty hard for any one to credit all this guff. And you will think there must be some mistake. That any living man could be made of that kind of stuff. And we have an apology to make, James Henry Bilkins you must know, is nothing but a bluff. This little yarn of ours if just a fake.

The New Principle in Advertising:

You may know that a number of states have already passed a law making it illegal to issue in any form, any advertisement which is dishonest or misleading. Such a bill is now pending in a number of state legislatures. It will be a good thing in Wisconsin.

Only poor merchandise or service needs to be lied about. The best way to avoid misleading the public in advertising is to avoid dishonest merchandise. Our advertising is intended merely to make known facts, about us and our goods, as we know the facts. Its value, to us depends on its value to you, its purpose is to convince, not to persuade. We don't want persuaded customers.

We mean to tell the truth about our store, our methods of business, our spirit of service, our merchandise; there's no reason why we should do anything else; the truth is enough.

A lie in advertising, or in merchandise, is not freedom; it is bondage; it hinders instead of helps; it imposes restrictions which grow narrower as time passes.

We want to be free in this business; we want our customers to be free. We want you free to buy what you choose, or free to leave it, free to come and get your money back if you'd rather have it than the goods. We're here to be of whatever service we can; it's the surest way to growth and profit.

A GENUINE $5.00 STYLE DURHAM DUPLEX FOR 35c

THIS IS THE RAZOR 35c

Most important razor sale this city has ever known—100,000 sold the past ten months.

The Durham Duplex Style Safety Razor is really in a class by itself. It has all the perfect long blade razor points, in fact it is simply perfection.

It's more than a safety razor—it's the old fashioned long blade with all the Safety Razor features. The ordinary safety razor merely scrapes off the beard because you cannot apply the diagonal stroke.

The Durham Duplex Cuts the beard because you get the same diagonal stroke you are so used to using in your Old Style Long Blade Razor.

No face cutting—blood stopping annoyances if you use a Durham Duplex—it makes shaving a pleasure not a dread—you smile while you shave.

This offer may not appear again. Cut out this ad and bring it with 35c to

HOLD LIVELY SUIT IN JUSTICE COURT

Dr. R. L. Brown Handles His Own Case and Wins in Action Brought by Mrs. Louise Merrill to Recover Rent.

Handling his own case without the aid of an attorney, Dr. R. L. Brown secured a verdict in his favor from the jury in the action brought against him by Mrs. Louise Merrill to recover rent money due from Brown on April 1st, in Justice Talman's court yesterday. Frank L. Stevens, agent for Mrs. Merrill, figured prominently in the case and was virtually responsible for the suit, although he acted on the authority of Mrs. Merrill, according to her own testimony.

Dr. Brown, who claimed that Stevens had made trouble for him on former occasions in regard to rent, made clear to the jury the exact situation. He had received a letter from Stevens on April 1, the time that the rent was due, stating that unless the payment was made before eleven o'clock on the third, suit would be instituted. Dr. Brown exhibited a letter to the jury, which was a copy of the amount of the rent which had been returned to him, and which he had originally sent to Mrs. Merrill, ignoring Stevens. Brown claimed that he secured the draft a few minutes before eleven o'clock on the third instant.

This failed to satisfy Stevens, who had already started the suit on the authority of Mrs. Merrill. Dr. Brown insisted on a jury trial and furnished the money necessary and subpoenaed two witnesses, Mrs. Merrill and Stevens.

Brown explained to the jury before calling Mrs. Merrill to the witness stand that he wished to show from her testimony that she was not aware of the sort of person she had acting as her agent. At several other times during the course of the case Brown tended to indulge personalities.

In his address to the jury he recalled an incident which occurred when he paid his rent on a former occasion. At that time, Brown alleged, Stevens attacked him with a hatchet and Brown exhibited the coat which was torn by the weapon.

"Why," said Brown, "Mrs. Merrill's tenants wouldn't have anything to do with Stevens and he was even afraid to come to see them. He has left the door and then they caught sight of him."

M. O. Moutat had the case for Mrs. Merrill. The jury, which was out but a short time, was composed of Sam Warner, A. E. McGee, Wallace Cochran, George Turk, Fred Blakely, and Bert Gage.

PRELIMINARY SURVEY FOR BRIDGE IS MADE

Will Permit Determining of Number and Length of Spans, and Length of New Structure.

Preliminary surveys for a new concrete bridge across Rock river on Milwaukee street, have been made by City Engineer C. V. Kerch and his assistants and some soundings taken. The map made from them shows the location of the abutting buildings, position of curb lines and abutments and will be used in projecting a profile of the new structure. From the map prepared it will be possible to determine the number and length of spans, the position of piers, and the length of the bridge.

It is thought that it will not be necessary to have the bridge extend beyond the concrete wall which runs underneath the east end of the present bridge. Some of the soundings taken give evidence that there are remains of old crib piers in the bottom of the river, and it may be that these will have to be eradicated or removed in building the new bridge.

When William H. Taft succeeded Theodore Roosevelt as president a photograph was made of the two together on the White House portico that attracted much attention. Here is a new Taft and a new Roosevelt, both of whom are connected with the new administration, the former as a newspaper man covering the executive offices, and the latter as the new assistant secretary of the navy. Both are related distantly to their more famous namesakes. The young Roosevelt whose name is Franklin R. holds the position once held by Theodore in the navy department. He is a Democrat and comes from Dutchess County, N. Y., and has served as a state senator.

INVOLVES VALIDITY OF COMMISSION LAW

Winnebago County Circuit Court Case
May be Appealed to Supreme Court to Decide Important Issue.

Following the refusal of Judge Burnell of the third judicial circuit to render a decision in regard to the constitutionality of the commission government law in the case of the state of Wisconsin ex rel. William Bloomer vs. J. W. Canavan et al., the plaintiff, being a former police officer at the city of Appleton, an appeal may be taken by the Appleton authorities to the state supreme court for a final adjudication, especially as the question of the constitutionality of the commission government act was attacked as a principal contention in the case.

Judge Burnell, however, touches upon the question of the law's validity at some length, intimating that there is considerable doubt about the matter and that therefore it is one for a higher court to decide. On this particular point, he says:

"Where a statute is plainly unconstitutional it is, of course, the duty of any court to so declare it; but where the question is doubtful I conceive it to be the proper course for a trial court to give the statute the benefit of the doubt, and leave the final decision to the court of last resort. This court must therefore hold the statutes in question to be constitutional until the supreme court shall rule otherwise."

In his decision, Judge Burnell goes into the questions at issue very thoroughly, taking up each point in succession and passing his opinion thereon. At the very outset he says:

"Counsel for the relator very strenuously attacks the law creating a commission form of government for cities which choose to adopt it. They contend: First, that it violates the rule of uniformity prescribed by the constitution, and second, that it is void as an attempted delegation of legislative powers to the electors at large. While very able arguments have been made upon these points, for reasons hereinafter stated, the court will not enter into an extensive discussion of them, but will content itself with stating them and giving briefly the reasons for its decision."

As to the first point, Judge Burnell does not think it is well taken, and he cites authorities for the belief, but in regard to the second point, he states that it presents a more serious question, saying that "various statutes which have attempted to delegate more or less power to other bodies than the legislature, have been held void as being in violation of this provision." The provision of the constitution referred to here stipulates that "the legislative power shall be vested in a senate and assembly." On this point Judge Burnell adds: "The so-called 'home rule' statute, which provides that cities might alter or amend their charters, or adopt a new one in the manner therein provided, was held a violation of this clause of the constitution."

Never Passed Upon.

Several cases are cited to show the general rule and the strictness with which it is held. "On the other hand," Judge Burnell states, "it is now the settled rule that where a statute is complete in itself, and leaves nothing to the electors but the power to determine by a vote whether it shall go into effect or not—a so-called 'option statute'—is not a violation of the classes of the constitution in question."

Citing cases in support of this view, Judge Burnell continues: "But the statutes in question here creating a commission form of government for cities go a step farther than any statute which our supreme court has yet been called to pass upon. These not only allow the electors to determine by vote whether they will go under the commission form of government, but also allow them, when they tire of that form (after six years) by a simple vote, to repudiate it, and return to the old form of city government. This feature is new in legislation. It has never been passed upon by our supreme court, or any other, so far as I am advised. Certainly no such case has been called to the attention of the court."

Summarizing the arguments of counsel for the relator that the legislature cannot delegate to the electors of a city the power to vote a new law up and an old one down and turn around and vote the new law down and the old one up again, etc., Judge Burnell concludes that this contention presents a very grave question, saying:

May Take An Appeal.
"If cities can shift from one law to another twice, by a mere vote of the electors, no reason is perceived why they could not do so a dozen times, if the law so provided. And then, it is contended, they would be making their own laws, instead of having them made by the law-making body provided by the constitution. It may be, however, that the court will hold that where two statutes, each complete in itself, providing different forms of government, exist, and the voters of a city are simply allowed to say under which one they will be governed, they may exercise the option to change from one to the other, within reasonable limits, and that this is not a delegation of legislative power."

SOUTHERN LEAGUE SEASON
OFFICIALLY OPENED TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Birmingham, Ala., April 10.—The Southern League, composed of teams in Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans, Nashville, Memphis, Montgomery, Chattanooga and Atlanta, which finished last year in the order named, started today upon its thirteenth season.

League officials and club owners share the belief that the season will be the most successful in the history of the organization. The weaker clubs of last year have apparently been strengthened and all signs point to a close and hard fight for the championship. For the initial contests Mobile lines up at New Orleans, Montgomery at Memphis, Atlanta at Chattanooga and Nashville at Birmingham. The season will continue until September.

The Theatre

MONTE CARLO GIRLS.
Saturday, April 12, will be burlesque night, and the real show will be here. For many seasons burlesquers have been coming to the city, but one of the most popular and the favorite among the "boys" is the Monte Carlo Girls, with their pretty girls and funny men. This season an entirely new show has been written for these merry makers. The opening burlesque is entitled "Lord Algy" in which the entire company appears. The closing burlesque is entitled "Cohen's Troubles." This is said to be the funniest and up-to-date piece that they have had in years. Added to the above is a number of the higher class vaudeville specialties, among whom old time favorites, Golden and Mack old Hebrew friends, two of the very best and highest salaried comedians in this country.

"A THOROUGH-BRED TRAMP."
Frank P. Prescott, the well known theatrical firm, have arranged with the management of the Myers Theater to bring their well known comedy drama "A Thoroughbred Tramp" to the city on Sunday, April 13, matinee and evening.

This time-tried production will be presented in its entirety, the best cast of characters ever put together to interpret a play, all new and special scenery depicting the locality the scenes are laid in and a grand array of head-line vaudeville acts will be presented during the action of the piece.

"THE BOHEMIAN GRIL."
One of the distinct novelties of last season was the revival of "The Bohemian Girl" by the Aborn Opera Company. This is the reverse of the usual case, as revivals are as a rule, lacking novelty. Not so however, in this instance, because of the many innovations introduced by Milton and Sargent Aborn under whose direction it was, in its new form originally presented.

Dinner Stories

Orville Wright, at a banquet in Dayton, told of an obstinate old Day-tonian who, looking up one still afternoon at the Wright biplanes circling the air, said: "When people first told me about this here flyin' I called 'em liars. Then, when I read about it in the papers, I said it was a fake." The old man watching the biplanes moving in great curves like lazy birds, shook his head thoughtfully. "By crissus!" he said, "I ain't what ye mout call convinced yet, nuther."

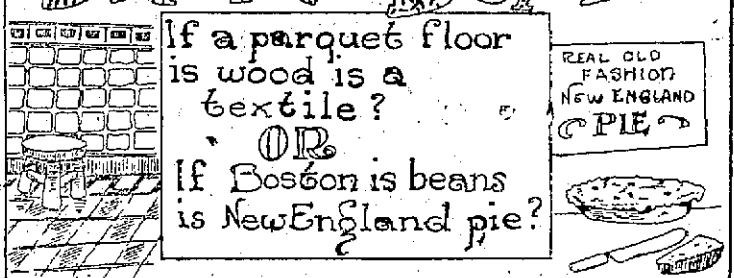

Mammy Lou was visiting Lucindy. The latter lifted a boiling pot off the stove and set it in the fireless cooker, covered it closely and pushed it under the table.

"What's yuh agoin' t' do wid dat pot?"
"I 'se agoin' to cook dem becons in de fireless cooker."

Mammy rose, a scared, hunted look on her wrinkled face. "Does yuh mean t' tell me yuh agoin' t' bile dem beans without fish?"

Lucindy nodded, Mammy backed to the door and looked at the girl as at an apparition, then with defiance mingled with fear commanded: "Put on your bonnet! You sure is hoodoed! You ain't goin' t' live in no house where the devil does de cookin'."

There Are No Strings to This Contest. You Get Just What You Work For.

The seed will be that which Mr. Raessler has used so successfully himself. Each boy will be supplied with enough Silver King or Golden Glow seed to plant an acre at cost, $1.00.

This is a special price made by Mr. Raessler to the Gazette because of this contest, he could sell every pound he has at double the price.

Those who wish to furnish their own seed are at liberty to do so; the opportunity is given to use the same seed Mr. Raessler has developed into such a high state of perfection. Boys furnishing their own seed of the two varieties indicated are not barred in any way from participating.

Rules of the Contest.

First: Fill out and send or bring to the Gazette office the entry blank printed below and secure your seed.
Second: Arrange for an acre of ground, selecting that which will be best suited to the purpose.
Third: The seed must be Silver King (Wisconsin No. 7) or Golden Glow (Wisconsin No. 12).
Fourth: Corn must be grown entirely by the boy himself in Rock county.
Fifth: The awards will be made on the yield of one acre and the 10 winners required to bring to Gazette Office the best ten ears of corn from the crop for exhibition purposes. The fairness of the contest will be largely in the hands of the boys. Mr. Raessler will make personal inspection trips and some further rules will be laid down for contestants to follow.
Sixth: The ground will be measured sometime before harvest time and the weighing of corn will be under the supervision of competent judges who will be chosen later.

Some of the Possibilities.

Corn grown by those participating will give a big yield and will bring fancy prices for seed especially that which captures the ten prizes. The prize winners will have opportunity of exhibiting at shows and competing for honors. Reputations for seed culture will be made which will be life long assets and will bring large income. Knowledge about expert methods will be gained by every contestant. The opportunity to enter the race and receive Mr. Raessler's instruction will be worth many times the effort. Address all communications to Corn Contest Editor Gazette.

Entry Blank Gazette's Corn Contest.

I desire to enter the Gazette Corn Contest and agree to follow instructions and abide by the rules and regulations of the contest.

I shall use my best efforts to produce prize corn and to make Rock County the champion corn county of the State.

ASK MORE AID FOR COUNTY SANATORIA

Speakers From Many Cities Argue for Bossard Bill Before Legislative Finance Committee.

Madison, Wis., April 10.—The advocates of the Bossard bill giving larger state aid to county tuberculosis sanatoria made an excellent showing before the joint finance committee yesterday. The speakers were Senator Bossard of La Crosse; Dr. J. W. Coon, superintendent of the Wales state sanatorium; Dr. Brown of Racine; Dr. Curran of Manitowish; Dr. Evans of La Crosse; former Assemblyman C. B. Ballard, representing the Outagamie county board and taxpayers of that county; Dr. Barrett of Sheboygan; Dr. Dearholt of Milwaukee; Dr. Willett of Milwaukee; E. B. Buchanan of Lake Mills; Mayor John Fleming of Eau Claire; and Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health.

Senator Bossard said the time has passed when there is any more doubt as to the wisdom of the policy of establishing county institutions for the cure of tuberculosis. In the county institutions already established are only 273 beds altogether, and at the Wales institution 180 beds. With 15,000 cases in the state, the need for more accommodations was self-evident, he claimed.

Dr. Coon said the state sanatorium is overwhelmed with applicants for entrance, and that it is absolutely impossible to admit all who apply within a reasonable time, and hundreds must be kept on the waiting list for three months or longer. Sometimes this results in delay so long that the patient is past recovery. This bill would encourage counties to build their own sanatoria, and the state institution would be relieved to that extent. "Whether the Friedman discovery is all it is claimed or not, he declared the need for sanatoria will be present from year to year as now."

The Bossard bill increases from $20,000 to $50,000 per year the amount contributed by the state for the care of tuberculosis sufferers in county sanatoria, and increases from $3 to $5 per week the amount the county shall receive from the state for each patient in such institutions. The bill gives the board of control power to approve proposed buildings and shacks before construction.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE MOTORCYCLE.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE motorcycle is a portable gasoline engine with a shattering form of speech and the disposition of a coyote. It is used to carry people from one point to another at the rate of one mile every fifteen seconds and incidentally to discourage pedestrians from crossing the street without having to duck under a dray.

Motorcycles are so constructed that they never kill anybody except the innocent bystander. Nobody ever heard of a motorcycle blowing up and kicking a speed maniac into the future state. The motorcycle always picks up somebody who is in perfect health and shuffles him into the great beyond before he has time to straighten out an overcharge at the butcher shop. On this account, motorcycle victims should be regulated by law, and nobody should be allowed to be killed by one unless his life insurance will wipe out his outstanding debts.

Motorcycle riders always wear green goggles so that they cannot see anybody who gets in the way. This gives them a comfortable sense of security and enables them to run down people who ought to be on the sidewalk or up a tree without being annoyed by their conscience. As the owner of a motorcycle aims to ride with his head down, he never knows when he passes over a lady victim unless he punctures his rear tire on her hatpin.

The motorcycle has a deep-toned exhaust which warns pedestrians that the most successful form of sudden death ever invented is about to perform in their midst. Many a pedestrian has heard this exhaust coming down the road two miles away and tried to get across the street in two frenzied jumps, only to be overtaken in the second leap and scattered in four directions from his last transfer. It is more dangerous to attempt to pass in front of an intoxicated motorcycle than it is to mount a trolley car backward. Some motorcyclists slow up on passing through a crowd, but they make up for it by burning large holes in suburban pavements.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE WILL HABIT.

"A MAN'S will is his heaven," says an old proverb. It seems to me the proverb-maker should have added, "or his hell." The other day we were talking about a woman who has a very powerful will. She dominates everyone with whom she comes into contact by the force of her tremendous will. She has ruled her parents and brothers and sisters for years. She is the dominant force in several societies to which she belongs. Her profession is that of nursing, and before she has been in a patient's home twenty-four hours, she is making it, unless perchance she happens to meet a will as strong as her own. That is very seldom.

Now this woman is extremely clever and competent, and usually far more capable of managing things than those whom she dominates. Moreover, she is self-sacrificing and kind-hearted, and wants nothing so much as to help everyone. And yet, as you easily imagine, she antagonizes people everywhere she goes. At the mention of this woman, someone expressed a feeling of pity for her family, especially for a younger sister whom she has managed into a very pulp of incompetence. And then the Man-Who-Thinks spoke up and said, "I pity the woman herself far more than any one else."

"Why?" asked the Author-Man. "Because she makes so many enemies?" "No," said the Man-Who-Thinks. "Not exactly that, but because she can't help making so many enemies; because she is the worst victim of her own will. She dominates other people by it, but think how it dominates her. Remember, she didn't create that will; it was born in her, and yet after all, are they not more to be pitied than blamed?"

That's a rather new point of view, isn't it? But a very convincing one, I think. When one of these domineering people comes into our orbit and tries to drive us by his or her will, we are apt to feel resentment. And yet after all, are they not more to be pitied than blamed? We do not blame the man who inherits a taste for drink. But what is the power of a taste for drink compared to that of a taste for domineering? The love of drink is as well as everyone else is even more deeply rooted than that. It is part of a man's very nature.

I know a man who has antagonized his wife and children, and made his home a bleak and loveless place by his domineering will. Do you think he really wanted to do that? Do you think he prefers loneliness and hate to love? Not so. He is simply the worst victim of his own will.

Of course, if they struggled hard enough, these people could conquer their tyrannical wills, but then, so might the drunkard conquer his habit. And yet we pity rather than blame him. Why should we be less lenient to the victim of the will habit?

edges and fold the desired size. Stitch around the edge, criss-cross from corner to corner, on the machine and sew a brass ring in one corner to hang by. Unless the stocking is exceptionally thin one stocking leg is sufficient for a holder.

Before you use your carpet sweeper for the daily cleaning, take out the brush and wet the bristles well. Then shake out the water you can before using the brush in the sweeper. It will save you raising dust, and be as effective as dust if it will stop the lint out of the bristles.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

EVERYTHING is superficial and perishable, but love and truth only.

What is good is effective, generative; makes for itself room, food and allies.

A sound apple produces seeds a hybrid does not.

—Emerson.

DAINTIES WORTH REMEMBERING.

Don't forget when there is a sick one in the neighborhood to take in a little dish of some delicacy, which will mean a moment's thought to you, but will bring hours of pleasant thoughts to you for your kindness. It is hard to realize how tired one becomes of everything and all kinds of food unless he has been on a bed of sickness.

A dish of soup or broth, in a dainty bowl with a pretty dolly on a plate will brighten up the invalid for an hour. A rose or a violet, a postal card even, which means scarcely nothing to you, will be a source of delight to the shut-in one.

Here is a sweetmeat that most invalids will enjoy and be able to eat: Mix together a cup each of puffed rice, raisins, figs and dates, with a bit of orange and lemon peel dried; put all through the meat grinder, and make into small balls or squares. Wrap in waxed paper and allow the patient to nibble one occasionally. By the addition of nut meats and dipping the squares in chocolate one has a very elegant sweetmeat.

Drop whole figs in grape juice and let stand over night, stuff with nuts or a marshmallow, roll in sugar and serve as dessert with coffee and crackers.

Date Tapioca.—Stir frequently in a double boiler for half an hour three pints of milk, three tablespoonsful of tapioca and half a cup of sugar. When cool stir in a cup of stoned raisins and dates chopped and half a teaspoonful each of lemon and vanilla. Bake in buttered baking dish. Dot with stoned dates.

Eastern Sandwiches.—Put through a meat chopper the following: A sour apple pared and quartered, one red Spanish pepper, one sweet green pepper, one Neufchatel cheese. Add a half teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of powdered sugar, and spread on slices of buttered bread.

Just at this season grated maple sugar, cream and chopped almonds are used as a dainty sandwich filling.

Nellie Maxwell.

His Snakeship.
Charlie, two and one-half, was playing in the yard. A snake ran across the walk. "O," he called excitedly, "here is nothing with a tail on it."

Baseball As a Revealer of Character

FROM now on," said Phoebe, somewhat disdainfully, "I suppose we shall hear nothing but baseball vernacular."

"Why especially now?" inquired Madge. "The Big League season is open today, whatever that may mean. Already the baseball toxin is permeating the atmosphere of our house."

"I wonder why men are so crazy over it," reflected Madge. "I don't see much in it."

"Nor I either," replied Phoebe. "To be sure, I have never seen many games, so perhaps I am no judge. I want to see that game was much dragged by enthusiastic friends. But I didn't see that the game was much. Some players looped around the track, or whatever you call it, while some of the others were off in the weeds hunting the ball. I applauded at the wrong time, and yelled for the wrong side, which disgusted the people who took me. But as I was disgusted myself with the game, I guess we were even. The score was something like twenty-six to nothing. When I told my brother about it, he said the less I talked about a game like that the better; that that was no game. But I didn't see why! They did a lot of running and batting and things like that."

"Don't ask me to explain," said Madge. "I wouldn't know a batter if I fell over one, not that kind."

"But there's one thing I did discover in that game," went on Phoebe. "What?"

"It's a game that shows up character wonderfully. If I was going to marry a man, I would like to see him play baseball. There was a fellow there who was a catcher, I think that's what the one who catches the balls is called. It was a delight to watch him catch that ball. And the way he did it was just a picture of the sort of man he was. He watched the ball coming, and he was as calm and steady as a rock. And at just the right moment, he grabbed it. He didn't try for it too soon, nor wait until it was too late. He didn't get nervous or flustered. He had himself perfectly in hand, and he got the ball every time. It was fascinating to me to watch him. And I felt that in business or home life, he would be just that calm and steady and ready. He would be one of those people who are always there with the goods, without fuss or excitement, no matter what might be wanted. I told my brother about him, but he said all catchers were like that. But I don't believe it. Or else not all men could be catchers. For I know lots of fussy, hasty people who would never catch a ball. They'd try for it too soon, or they'd fumble it, or they'd be too late. As a study in human nature, baseball might be enjoyable."

"That's so," replied Madge. "I never thought of taking it in that way."

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My hair is split on ends and has been coming out a great deal of late. Thanking you for any formula you may mention, I am,

READER.

It may be that your whole system needs toning up. Take a tonic and outdoor exercise. Give the hair an egg shampoo and when well dried apply a little kerosene to the scalp. Apply the kerosene two or three times a week. The hair will seem to come out worse at first, but in a couple of weeks you will see an improvement. Brush it well night and morning. Be sure that brushes and combs are scrupulously clean.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-three and cartoonist for a magazine. I have been working for this magazine for nearly two years and find myself drawing a comfortable salary. At first I did this work on the side, while employed by another, but I found myself doing better by giving my whole time to sketching for the magazine.

About six months ago I got into some trouble over one of my cartoons but after some difficulty my employers straightened it out. The girl I am engaged to heard of the matter, but said nothing then. When I asked her for a fixed date of our marriage she told me I would have to give up the cartoon business and go back to my trade before she would marry me.

I did not expect anything of this kind, as she had never said anything before. I explained to her what this business meant to me, but she still stuck to her idea, bringing up trouble I once had. Please give me your advice.

W. J. S.
Every cartoonist, at times, finds himself in difficulties because of his work, which of necessity often makes enemies for him. If you are doing a clean, honest work for a decent magazine, I do not see why you should change. It is true that the cartoonist's family sometimes suffers from his work, also, but that is more or less true of all public work.

If the young lady cares very much for you it seems to me she should be willing to share the results of your work with you. However, if you can do as well in the other business, and if it is a more settled and sure way of earning a living than cartooning, it might be well to return to it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you be kind enough to tell me the correct way to eat potatoes baked in jackets, either sweet or Irish? Do you cut them in halves with your knife and remove inside to your plate with fork, or do you manage the "whole thing" with your fork? (2) When a woman and her husband call in the afternoon (strangers) and my husband is not at home, and leave cards, one of hers and two of his, returning this call, if my husband does not go with me, should I leave two of his cards with mine? (3) Would my husband's business card be permissible?

MRS. J. H.
(1) Cut the potato in halves, take a half in the left hand and scoop out the meat with the fork. (2) Yes. (3) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What will take a stain out of a new black skirt? I went into a store where they were painting and got paint on it. They put turpentine on to take the paint out, but it left a stiff, bad looking spot. I can't afford to take it to the cleaners. A. C.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

The dirt in milk is proved by the number of bacteria per cubic centimeter (the cubic centimeter equals fifteen drops or about half a thimbleful), and the dirt gets into the milk in the first place, through the careless methods used in its production, where barns, cows and stables were not clean. Neither were the milkers nor the utensils in which the milk was drawn and strained. Particles of cattle feed, of wood, of clothing, flies and other insects and cow's hairs are found in the strainers through which this dirty milk is strained.

It is in the dirt that the danger lies, when this milk is not at once brought down to a very low temperature, for warm milk is an ideal field for the

YOUR HAIR IS FLUFFY, BEAUTIFUL AND LUSTROUS IN A FEW MOMENTS

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and try this! Also stops falling hair; destroys every particle of dandruff.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse."

Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you will have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knott's Danderine from any drug, list or toilet counter, and just try it.

growth of the bacteria. Even clean milk may develop numbers of bacteria if it is not properly cooled and kept cool. The growth of bacteria increases rapidly after milking; that is why our clean dairies cool the milk instantly, and pack it in ice to prevent this bacterial growth.

Buy Only Clean Milk.
It will be seen by these facts why the housewife should buy a clean milk first, and then why she should keep it clean and cold once it has reached her home. A clean grade of milk, known as "certified milk," has been kept on ice sweet for forty-five days. (Dr. Coit.)

"Dirty milk is a greater carrier of diseases than is polluted water. Scarlet fever, diphtheria, typhoid fever and tuberculosis are among the milk-borne diseases to which the consumer is liable if the milk supply is infected. Boston and Cambridge, Mass., had an outbreak of scarlet fever a few years ago, the source of which was difficult to trace until the board of health found that it broke out in Cambridge a little earlier than in Boston. Further investigation revealed the fact that the "faster" of the milk at the receiving station in Cambridge had been away for a time and his place taken by another man in whose family there was a case of scarlet fever. When it is known that the method of "tasting" the milk employed by this man was to dip the spoon into the can and then put it to his mouth, then put the same spoon into the next can, it will be seen how certain was the infection of every can of milk passed on by him.

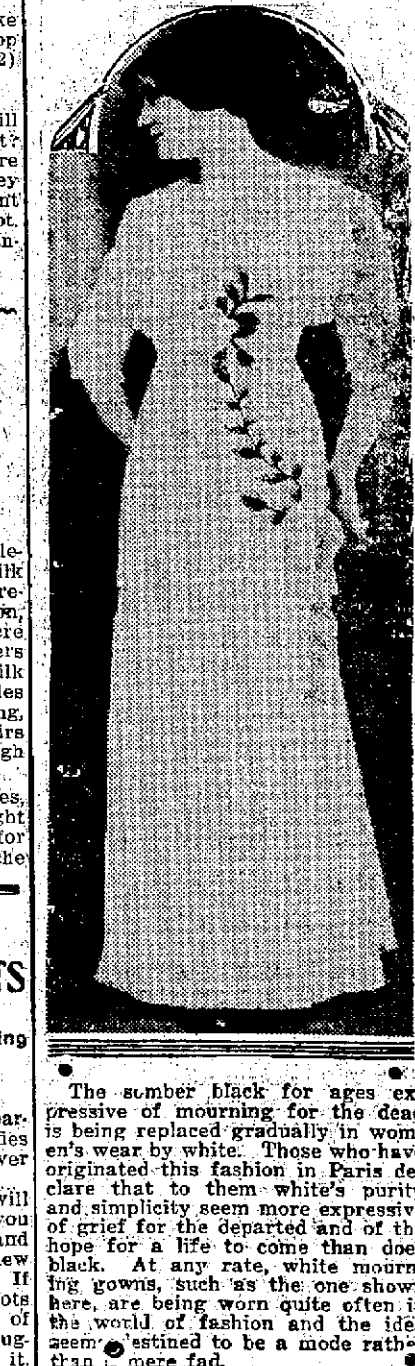

From a model farm in Connecticut, where thousands of dollars had been spent upon the latest appliances, the milk was sent to the surrounding towns. Much to the owner's surprise and disgust, in spite of his finely bred cows and elaborate care given them, complaints were frequent as to the undrinkability of the milk, owing to the impossibility of keeping it sweet. It would turn sour within a few hours after delivery. After striving vainly to remedy this state of things, a renowned scientist was sent for. He carefully inspected the cow sheds, water supply and all the dairy appliances, questioning closely as to the care each received. "Were the tins scalded each day?" etc. Finally a wooden paddle, used for stirring the milk in order to hasten the process of cooling after being drawn from the cows, was examined microscopically and there was found the primary cause of all the trouble, as it was literally swarming with bacteria. Of course the warm milk was at once incubated, so to speak. When the paddle, too, was subjected to a daily bath in boiling water, all complaints ceased.

How careful are many housewives that their milk, fish, butter and other easily tainted foods are kept from contamination in the ice chest! But it's like the tardily locked stable door so far as milk is concerned, in many cases, for too often in the past has it come to the consumer unfit for use because of the uncleanly surroundings previous to its delivery.

Consumer is in Control.
First and last always, it is the consumer that controls the production. The fact is not always recognized. The various milk conferences held, the voice of the consumer is seldom heard. If it were heard, it might be better for the milk supply, for the consuming public is, after all, the important force. An educated, enlightened public demanding clean, safe milk would be a power for the improvement of the milk supply. Legislation, whether it is state, federal or municipal, can never be fully effective unless there is back of it an enlightened public sentiment demanding its enforcement.

New Way.
Flirt, and the men flirt with you; love, and you love alone.—G. C. Sterne.

WHITE NOW WORN BY THOSE IN MOURNING

The somber black for ages expressive of mourning for the dead is being replaced gradually in women's wear by white. This change was originated in this fashion in Paris and declared that to them white's purity and simplicity seem more expressive of grief for the departed and of the hope for a life to come than does black. At any rate, white mourning gowns, such as the one shown here, are being worn quite often in the work of fashion and the idea seems destined to be a mode rather than a mere fad.

SOIL PREPARATION IMPORTANT FACTOR

NOYES RAESSLER GIVES SECOND OF SERIES OF ARTICLES ON CORN CULTURE.

DETAILS OF THE WORK

Boys Entering Gazette Corn Raising Contest Should Pay Strict Attention to Instructions Given.

In the second of his series of articles on corn culture prepared especially for the Gazette to aid the boys who are entering the corn contest, Noyes Raessler takes up the importance of careful preparation of the seed bed.

Preparation of the Seed Bed
Previous to Planting.

(By Noyes Raessler.)
It does not make much difference what the character of the soil is so long as we have plenty of fertility to produce an ordinary farm crop.

A clover sod with a little application of fertilizer furnishes an ideal soil for corn. If stubble land is used more fertilizer is necessary.

Do not advocate the use of commercial fertilizers as it requires considerable experience in making the right use of these fertilizers. Very often more harm than good is done by persons who have a limited knowledge of this kind of work. There is plenty of barnyard fertilizer on any Rock county farm at this time of the year and it would be very little trouble for a boy to obtain all that is necessary for his one acre.

As soon as the ground is dry enough to plow a heavy disk should be used going over the ground and thoroughly pulverizing the surface. This gets the ground in very fine condition for plowing and also mixes the fertilizer with the soil.

The plowing should be done as deeply as the character of the soil will permit, and right here a word of caution is necessary. Most of us are apt to hurry along too fast when it comes to plowing. We do not realize that this is one of the most important stages in the preparation of our seed bed. Every square inch of soil should be turned over. Any part of the soil left unplowed leaves a very poor condition of the soil for the tiny rootlets to penetrate.

If the plowing is thoroughly done an abundance of rainfall will be saved. This moisture will come in very handy during a drought which we may expect the latter part of July and in the month of August.

As soon as the ground is plowed it should be harrowed over at least twice, and if possible a disk should be used before the lumps have had a chance to dry. This places the ground in shape to absorb the maximum amount of moisture from our spring rains which we are having now. At intervals of ten days or two weeks a disk harrow should be used again. This will keep off a crop of weeds which will be found both underneath the surface and above the ground.

The next article will contain instructions on planting corn.

Predicting The Weather

Thus far we have dwelt upon the similarity between the Weather Bureau map and a bird's-eye view of the country. Let us now contrast them and consider the numerous advantages that favor the map.

The person with a bird's-eye view could note the areas of cloudiness and sunshine, as we find them plotted on the weather map. He would necessarily be above the clouds and could not see where rain or snow was falling. Granting, however, that the types of clouds might enable him to closely approximate the precipitation areas, he would still be unable to determine the intensity or severity by measuring the amount of rain or snow fall. The weather bureau map gives all of this information accurately.

The bird's-eye view would enable the observer to determine the directions of the surface winds and to approximate their velocity in the clear areas by watching the drift of smoke, but in the cloudy areas he could only watch the cloud movements and estimate the surface winds from a general knowledge of atmospheric circulation. In high winds and gales he might catch occasional glimpses of heavy seas and of the destruction on land, but most of these effects would be obscured by intervening storm clouds. The observers of the weather bureau can see the cloud movements above and the effects of the storm underneath and in addition they are enabled to measure the velocity of the surface winds.

The observer aloft could gain very little knowledge of the temperature. Under certain conditions he might see evidences of unusual extremes, but his knowledge would be crude and only approximate at the best. By means of the weather bureau map we may know exactly the temperature conditions in all parts of the country, and by comparison with previous maps we can see where they are rising and where they are falling. By taking a pencil and outlining the dis-

HAS A CONFERENCE WITH SENIOR CLASS

Mrs. Janet B. Day Will Have Charge
Of Dramatic Production at High School.

Mrs. Janet B. Day called a meeting of the present Senior class of the high school this morning to confer with them and to determine just what kind of a play they could present before the public this year for commencement. There is a wealth of material, as about thirty Seniors are eligible for entering the cast. Mrs. Day is in favor of a large cast, and if this is met with approval throughout the Senior class, it is possible then to have a very fine play, and one to exceed the productions of previous years.

The invitation committee is busy now in selecting their invitations for the commencement exercises. Harold Mohr, secretary of the Senior class, has several samples to submit and the desirable one will be chosen at an early date.

PLAN TO FORESTALL DAMAGE BY FLOODS

National Drainage Congress, in Session at St. Louis, to Consider Pressing Problem.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., April 10.—With hundreds of delegates present from all parts of the country, representing state and municipal governments, commercial and improvement bodies, and development and conservation organizations, the third annual meeting of the National Drainage Congress opened here today. The sessions will continue until Saturday, and during that time much important action is expected to be taken up, looking toward the protection, by levee construction and other means, of the life and health of the people from floods, storms and tides; and the reclamation of the 75,000,000 acres of swamp and overflowed lands in the United States, and their utilization for agricultural purposes.

Not since the beginning of the movement looking toward Government aid in a vast scheme of draining the swamp lands of the country has so much interest been taken in the meetings of the drainage congress and during the day's session drainage and its kindred subjects, irrigation, forestry and waterways improvement, will not only be discussed but practical illustrations of what drainage is doing for various sections of the country will be given. Special attention will be given by the congress to the consideration of plans designed to prevent a recurrence of the terrible floods that have devastated the middle west and other parts of the country this spring.

Among the speakers will be members of Congress, governors of states, Government experts in drainage and reclamation work and representatives of many commercial organizations and colonization movements.

Delegates continue to pour into the city, every train arriving today bringing in scores interested in the work of the congress. The attendance at the initial session was large and representative. Former Governor David D. Francis, president of the congress, occupied the chair. Bishop Tuttle opened the session with prayer and Governor Major and Mayor Kreisman delivered addresses of welcome.

URGE NECESSITY OF A VICE COMMISSION

Larger Cities in State are Distributing Places for Traffic in Women,
Finance Committee is Told.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 10.—That Wisconsin is in no less need than other states for repressive measures against the white slave traffic was impressed upon the finance committee of the legislature yesterday by numerous speakers. The discussion was upon Senator Litalley's bill calling for a legislative committee to investigate and report in 1915 on the white slave traffic and kindred subjects. This "vice commission" is to consist of three members from each house, vested with plenary powers.

The committee was told that Milwaukee, Superior, Duluth and even "beautiful" Madison were distributing stations of the traffic in women. Senator Linley said the national attention directed to this evil made extended debate on his bill unnecessary. There was no better agency for undertaking such an investigation than the state of Wisconsin, which had so successfully led in other movements for social and economic regeneration, he argued.

Mrs. Aylward Talks.
Mrs. John A. Aylward of Madison, appearing for the Woman's club, made an impressive presentation of the situation as it affects Wisconsin communities. She stirred was she by Clifford Roe's expose of pandering that in common with other clubwomen, she resolved to lend all possible aid to change the conditions, and this led her to appear before the committee. Mrs. Aylward said that Wisconsin is serving as a recruiting field for the vice dens of Chicago, that the traffic takes the form of an "octopus" reaching out its arms into country homes and the city streets and railway stations, trapping innocent girls and making the very streets unsafe for travel. She regretted, she said, that many of these procurers were women, in the garb of Salvation Army or of nurses, some also as book agents, enticing girls to the cities. She quoted Roe's figures to the effect that 1,500 girls are annually lost on the way from New York to Chicago. Duluth and Superior, she said, are becoming distributing centers for the traffic on the northern border.

Police Unwilling to Act.
When in St. Paul recently Mrs. Aylward learned of the efforts made by the railroads in maintaining women detectives in their railroad stations to snatch unsuspecting girls from the panders who by pretext of various kinds seek to clutch new victims. Mrs. Aylward said that in the absence of any willingness upon their own initiative to abate houses of prostitution, the police as a rule have forced the solution of the vice problem by some other agency, and she saw in the state of Wisconsin a powerful to compel regard for the laws on this subject.

Miss Agnes Wilson of the Madison Associated Charities said that experience in her office showed the causes of vice to be bad home conditions, primarily, temptations held out by hotels; dance halls, especially those with liquor adjuncts; the small parks, and insufficient police activity to stamp out the evil. She said the police generally are unwilling to act unless absolutely certain they have a case and unless public opinion is back of them. She cited one case where a house was found four blocks from the university where thirty patrons were seen one Saturday night. This place was raided and punishment inflicted. Miss Wilson was convinced also that the evil extends to the "higher economic classes."

To Publish Findings.
G. E. Vander Cook suggested that as a means of acquainting the various communities with their own situation, the findings of the proposed commission be published widely and that 2,500 copies be printed for this purpose. The suggestion was approved by Senator Linley and others.

Other speakers were Mrs. Louis Kahtenbers, Miss M. V. Brown, and Dr. J. W. Quinn, humane officer of Madison.

A score of women attended the hearing, and at the close the impression was general that the case had been presented with impressive effect.

URGES LEGISLATION REGARDING MARKETS

Prof. Commons Argues for McGovern
Market Commission Bill and Other Similar Measures.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 10.—Legislation sought by the McGovern market commission bill, introduced by Assemblyman Mahon and the Hull direct marketing bill was championed before the assembly committee on state affairs yesterday afternoon by Prof. John R. Commons of the state industrial commission.

"There is need for this class of legislation," said Prof. Commons. "The only question, in my opinion, is whether the courts or a commission shall enforce it."

Prof. Commons argued for a commission. Such a body could investigate and do things on its own initiative, he said, while a court procedure would be a criminal process after the deed had been done and based on a specific case alone. Prof. Commons pointed out numerous changes that he would make in the bill to strengthen and clarify it. He would not give the commission power to fix prices or fix the margin that might exist between different places. He would strike out of the bill the provisions giving the commission power to fix the valuation of property. If a monopoly were found to exist, the railroad commission could be called in to deal with it.

In reply to a question by Assemblyman Baringale, Prof. Commons said he believed the commission should consist of three members, an economist, a lawyer and an administrative man, that the salary should be $5,000 and the members subject to the recall. Mr. Baringale said $5,000 was too much; that very few lawyers earned that much in private practice, and that the average earning of physicians in Chicago had been found to be $700 a year. Prof. Commons said the ablest men available should be secured to meet the high-priced attorneys of private interests and with such men there might be some hope of getting out of some of the tangles with which these high-priced lawyers have cumbered legislation for years.

Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery also spoke upon the bill.

The Daily Novelette.

O'HOOA'S TRAGEDY
"Oh, look! Look, oh!" shrieked a shrill feminine soprano, just as night was beginning to fall on Pickleheim street. "Mrs. O'Hooa's—oh, look! Look, oh!"

The neighbors gathered as one neighbor and looked. In imminent danger of crumpling to the street, five stories below, a little white object dangled dangerously from the second-story window of the O'Hooa home. "Oh, look! Look, oh!" Everybody was saying it now.

They debated what had best be done.

Delay would be fatal.

"Tell her!" advised some. But the rest shuddered at the terrible effect the disclosure would have on the sensitive nerves of Mrs. O'Hooa.

But something had to be done, and quickly. The white object—

Never should it be said that anyone was allowed to have a pillowcase out of her house on Pickleheim street.
